A symposium to inspire and educate our community on the best practices for our yards and gardens.

The Larchmont and Mamaroneck Environmental Committees have joined together to host GROW IT GREEN. The April 10th Sunday afternoon event will showcase keynote speaker Kim Eierman, an environmental horticulturist specializing in ecological landscapes and plants, followed by six expert-led workshops. The event will also feature many vendors related to green landscaping and gardening, as well as a range of community resources.

The Larchmont-Mamaroneck GROW IT GREEN Expo is geared to homeowners and landscapers alike and will focus on native plants, healthy soil, mulch-mowing (complete with demonstration), edible gardens, heirloom seeds and capturing rain water - all with an eye to creating beautiful landscapes without the use of synthetic fertilizers and pesticides. There will be fun vendor tables ranging from Bedford Bee-Honey Bee service for at home beekeeping* and Rent-a-Hen*, to sources for permeable pavers, rain barrels, composters as well as many local landscaping services and nurseries.

Come win one of several raffle items and enjoy kids' activities and refreshments in what promises to be a fun, educational afternoon for the whole family!
