"Seafood is delicious, nutritious, and the most environmentally responsible animal protein option you can eat. Seafood is central to a healthy population and a healthy planet", said Dr. Michael Rubino, Senior Advisor for Seafood Strategy at NOAA Fisheries. Let #ChooseLI help you to find your favorite catch during National Seafood Month this October, and throughout the year. You can read Dr. Rubino's entire article here: <https://www.fisheries.noaa.gov/.../eat-your-way-healthier-you...>

Protecting our ground and surface waters is essential to our future quality of life here on Long Island. The Suffolk County Department of Health Services has released its Subwatersheds Wastewater Plan and now we need to hear from you! The public comment period ends on October 16th.

"Scientists have warned that continued reliance on primitive wastewater disposal systems is a mounting threat to both our environment and our economy. Now, for the first time, there is a long term plan to diminish nitrogen pollution and put Suffolk County on a path to cleaner, healthier water resources" said Health Commissioner James M. Tomarken.
