

REFERENCE TO:
Climate Adaptation Strategies (Legacy Action #7.4)

The Warren County Hazard Mitigation Plan, updated in 2016, develops climate adaptation strategies and identifies specific actions and projects to meet those ends. While the document has been uploaded to the Climate Smart portal, in full, this document identifies the sections relative to climate adaptation strategies.

Pursuant to Section 7 (Plan Maintenance Procedures), Subpart 2, Warren County is to utilize this document to implement the Mitigation Plan through existing programs. For that reason, Warren County is using the Hazard Mitigation Plan as the County's official Climate Adaptation Strategy, to advance preparation for the anticipated effects of climate change. The Hazard Mitigation Plan is a comprehensive adaptation strategy for the entire community. Additionally, the public outreach was performed.

Climate Adaptation Strategies and Actions

The following sections relate to how Warren County and its planning partners intend to mitigate vulnerabilities (including climate risks) and specific actions and projects to meet those ends.

Mitigation Strategies - Section 6 (PDF Page #244)

This section relates to Warren County's mitigation strategy, which includes mitigation of impacts expected to be exacerbated by climate change. This section defines the mitigation strategy approach, goals/objectives, and an assessment of capability.
